

Having trouble getting into the Christmas spirit?

The Christmas holiday season is a welcome break for many in our community. But it can also be a time when we have to deal with some problems.

The Department of Health can help

We have highly trained staff available in your area, and can also put you in touch with community service providers who can meet your needs.

Here is some information about the services available over the holiday season.

Mental Health Services

For some people, Christmas can make existing problems seem even bigger at a time when everyone else seems to be having fun. If you're feeling down, help is available every day, any time. You can call Lifeline (13 11 14), Lifelink Samaritans (6331 3355, or 1300 364 566 if outside the Launceston area) or the Kids Helpline (1800 551 800). The Department of Health continues to provide mental health services over Christmas and the New Year, through the Mental Health Services Helpline (1800 332 388/61666333, available 24 hrs, 7 days a week).

There are a number of things that you can do to help others over Christmas, including:

- making time for those alone over this period and remembering how stressful Christmas is for some, both financially and personally
- remembering that mental health is everybody's business – take some time to help everyone have an enjoyable festive period.

Alcohol and Drug Services

This holiday period, Tasmanians are encouraged to be mindful of the harmful effects that come with over indulging in alcohol and drugs. For information and advice about local services, contact the Alcohol and Drug Information Service on 1800 250 015 any time. Helpful tips to celebrate safely this Christmas/New Year:

- Plan your night out, if you drink DON'T drive.
- Organise a lift home or place to stay the night.
- Pace yourself with non-alcoholic 'spacer' drinks.
- Eat before and while you are drinking.
- Stick with friends and stay in safe places.
- If you're the host, take care of your guests and provide non-alcoholic drinks, food and space for people to sleep the night.
- DON'T mix alcohol and drugs, you may experience a bad reaction.

Sexual Assault Support Service

Unfortunately, the Christmas and New Year period can be a time when people are more vulnerable to assault by others. That includes sexual assault and rape. When you're out on the town, keep a close eye on your drink so it doesn't get spiked. If you have been sexually assaulted, or suspect you have been, you need to get support and assistance as soon as possible. It's also important that any evidence is collected as soon as possible after the assault. Sexual assault support services are available in each region to offer support and practical assistance to victims of sexual assault:

- North – contact Laurel House North on their free call line 1800 697 877.
- North West – contact Laurel House North West on their free call line 1800 697 877.
- South – contact Sexual Assault Support Service on free call line 1800 697 877.

General Practitioners (GPs)

For information about doctors' surgeries open over the Christmas and New Year period, go to Primary Health Tasmania's after hours website:

www.tasafterhours.com or phone the healthdirect number 1800 022 222.

If you require help from the Department of Health but are unsure who to contact, phone Service Tasmania on 1300 135 513 or go to www.health.tas.gov.au

Normal services resume Wednesday 2 January 2019

Note that calls to 1800 numbers are free except when you're calling from a mobile phone.

Calls to 1300 and 13 numbers are generally at the cost of a local call except when you're calling from a mobile phone.
